DETAILED ACTION

1. The Examiner acknowledges the granting of applicant's petition filed 09/29/04.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 21-26, drawn to an apparatus for explosively severing a pipe, classified in class 89, subclass 1.15.
 - II. Claims 27-29, drawn to a method for severing a pipe, classified in class 89, subclass 1.151.
 - III. Claims 30-33, drawn to a method of severing a string of pipe, classified in class 102, subclass 321.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

3. Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a process that does not require providing exploding wire detonators at opposite ends of a tubular barrel space.
4. Inventions III and I are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process of group III as claimed does not require the particulars of the apparatus of group I.

5. Inventions III and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the severing tool of group III does not require an apparatus including exploding bridge wire detonators and capacitive firing devices. The subcombination has separate utility such as an apparatus for severing pipe in which said apparatus does not have to be partially assembled at a first location and fully assembled at a second location.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
